Team as a Whole Shows Improvement in Batting

By Rally of Past Week Washington Jumps Ahead of Boston in Club Hitting-Wakefield Now Leads Altizer.

low, Norman Elberfeld is still in the lead of American League batters George Stone, the demon batter from St Louis, however, is coming at a ter rific pace, and unless the mighty Lajoi gets to touching the leather more fre quently, the former champion swats man of the world, will be compelled perforce, to turn over his laurels to the Brown fielder. Stone is but three points behind Elberfeld's .388, while Lajoie low Thomas, of New York, and Clarke, of Cleveland, with .356. Although Wakefield is now ahead o

Altizer, by a good margin, both are still well within the .300 fold, with .333 and .310, respectively. Anderson has dropped from .290 to .281, Cross' .275 of this week is nine points lower than his mark of a week ago, and Charley Hick man, who made such bounds two weeks is still there with his .277. Jones Nill, Hughes, and Schlafly are scat tered on down the column with averages ranging from the first's .260 to Schlafly's Improved noticeably during the past ter days. Both Kittredge and Falkenberg who were tied with 213 last week, have gone up a few pegs and are now in the

In club batting, Washington is s in fifth place with Cleveland and New York tied for first with ,281 each, and the Athletics third with ,268. Chicag is in last place with .259, which is for below the next highest. In long hits h clubs the Nationals have force ing the Beaneaters by six points. Con nie Mack's minions are away in th ad of the other clubs with .447.

Six Perfect Pitchers.

Davis manages to keep a good di tance ahead of the other sluggers with Hickman a scant second over Lajoi In baserunning, George Nill has dropped from the enviable position of secon to sixth place, with Niles, of St. Louis topping the list. Altizer and Schlaff re the best local rungetters, but are last on a list of eleven others. Elber feld, Keeler, and Davis are fighting out for first honors only a few points

There are six catchers who have uninjured fielding records. Jack O'Connor leads the catchers. Wakefield is down about the middle of the list, while Heydon and Kittredge are both farther down. Lajoie heads the second basemen, Schlafly is third. Bradie; tops the third sackers, and Davis the shortstops. Five outfielders have yet to make a miscue. In team fielding Cleveland has the other teams beaten off. These are the averages of those who have played in ten games or over: There are six catchers who have unin

CHICAGO, July 21.—That little six-round scrap at Philadelphia between Jack O'Brien and Sam Berger has stir-red up a terrific rumpus.
